

IMMUNE & DIGESTIVE SUPPORT

PARA 1

Para 1 is CellCore's flagship immune and digestive support product. Made from the Mimosa Pudica Seed, this supplement provides the type of visible results that your patients require to ensure their supplements are delivering as advertised.

What's the secret? Mimosa Pudica Seed is very gelatinous. When the veggie capsule is swallowed, then broken down in the digestive tract, the powder expands and changes consistency, becoming jelly-like and sticky. At this point, Mimosa Pudica Seed works its way through the intestinal walls, scraping and scrubbing, pulling out toxins, heavy metals, biofilms, and other unwanted elements that are attached to the intestinal walls. The entire Mimosa Pudica plant is not fat-soluble, but the seed is. This is why CellCore uses the Mimosa Pudica Seed for immune and digestive support.

As a part of "phase two" of our comprehensive support protocol, Para 1 complements the drainage elements of phase one, taking advantage of a digestive system that is primed for peak performance. The ability of Para 1 to pull out toxins and parasites is then optimized by the body's drainage and these elements are flushed out of the system, avoiding normal die-off symptoms.

Para 1, formulated with 100% Mimosa Pudica Seed, is the game-changing product that produces the tangible results you're seeking as you help patients and clients move toward better immune system and digestive health.

Typical dosage is two capsules, twice daily away from food. Consult your practitioner when adjusting dosage.
